

WE NOMINATE

Cecelia Hodges Drewry, a "master teacher" in the fields of English, black studies and the drama and one of the most versatile members of the New Jersey academic community, who, effective September 1st, will assume her new duties as Assistant Dean of the College at Princeton University. At a time when colleges and universities are in the midst of a period of often agonizing self-appraisal and rapid change, this veteran teacher-scholar with a brilliant record at Douglass College will, in the opinion of an associate, "help immeasurably with Princeton's continuing expansion of coeducation and will give one of the University's nerve-centers added balance and energy."

Chairman of the African and Afro-American Studies Program at Douglass, where she has taught for the past eight years, Mrs. Drewry in entering upon her assignment in the Dean's Office, and prior to starting teaching a year hence in the Department of English, will have charge of all transfer students entering Princeton, an increasingly important category since the advent of coeducation. She will also serve as liaison with the Committee on Admission, will work closely with the Board of Advisers, will assist students seeking fellowships overseas and will have oversight of the far-ranging Princeton Program of Distinguished Teaching Awards in New Jersey secondary schools.

The wife of Henry N. Drewry, Director of the University's Office of Teacher Preparation and Placement and Lecturer in the Department of History, the dean-designate is a graduate of Hunter College (B.A.), Columbia University (M.A.) and Northwestern University (Ph.D.) and has also studied in England and West Africa. She launched her career as a teacher of speech at Talladega College, Alabama — where she and her husband met — and, after a year, went on to teaching English and speech in New York City, including the seven years at the High School of the Performing Arts that preceded her appointment to the Princeton High School faculty in 1959.

Dr. Drewry, a gifted actress and a frequent participant in radio and television programs, who has given "One Woman Shows" throughout the eastern United States, was named to the Douglass Faculty in 1962. At Douglass she advanced to the rank of Associate Professor-elect, played a major role in directing extra-curricular activities and was appointed to her departmental chairmanship a year ago. In 1968, as a Visiting Lecturer and Junior Fellow of the Council of the Humanities at Princeton, she had introduced one of the first black studies courses ever given at the University which graduated its first black alumnus in the 1890's.

The breadth of Mrs. Drewry's interests and her outreach to scholars and non-scholars alike are indicated by the organizations and agencies with which she is affiliated. She is Secretary of the Board of Managers of the New Jersey State Home for Girls, a life member of the National Council of Negro Women, a former board member of the Princeton YWCA and an active worker for the Princeton Association for Human Rights. Her many scholarly associations range from the American Educational Theatre Association to a board membership of the Resource Center for Afro-American Studies, The Choate School, Wallingford, Conn.

For her major contributions to our understanding of Afro-American history and black culture; for constituting with her husband one of the Princeton Community's most distinguished "teaching teams;" for bringing to educational administration the insights of a skilled and dedicated teacher; she is our nominee as

SUMMER IN THE FIELD

As "Learning Experiences," Every weekday all during July 145 kids in the Princeton public schools have touched down briefly at John Witherspoon School then scooped off to do a little field work in the Philadelphia Navy Yard, the University's art museum or the fish pond at Educational Testing Service.

They are in the Martin Luther King Summer Program due to end this Friday, and the emphasis this year is on field trips.

The program started last summer, but it's different this year. It combines the 1969 King program with the remedial Focus on Skills program for Middle School youngsters, which has been dissolved.

Two groups of students are the dual focus of this year's program: 120 boys and girls who will be entering first through fifth grade this fall, and 25 students who will enter the 9th and 10th grade at Princeton High in September. High school students are paid $8 a day for their part in the program, and they are known as "staff," just like the 13 teachers who participate.

The program's $20,000 budget comes entirely from the funds of the Princeton Regional at Schools and $15,000 of that amount goes for salaries. High school students have applied for about $3,000 in Title I money but so far haven't heard whether the application has been approved. If it is, the money will go to reduce the $20,000.

All kinds. The mix is approximately half black, half white, according to Dr. Hilton Anderson, public schools' psychologist who is directing the program. About half the high school staff consists of black students. About 40% of the elementary school youngsters are black.

Young students are in the program because their teachers thought it would be helpful for them. One six-year-old, for example, doesn't speak English very well and needed the kind of individual attention the program provides. High school students were recruited by Dr. Anderson and the teachers.

We decided on younger high school students—freshmen and sophomores—because at the 14-15-year age, it's hard for kids to get summer jobs," Dr. Anderson explains, "also they're closer in age to the young ones."

For the Young. For the elementary boys and girls, Martin Luther King provides learning experiences entirely outside the confines walls of the classroom, and which give the young child the feeling of successful accomplishment.

"We want his experiences to

THE GREAT MARTIN LUTHER KING BOAT RACE: Boats, designed and built by their pilots, were raced in the turbid waters of the stream at Washington Crossing State Park on Monday of this week. Boat-owners are participants in this year's Martin Luther King Summer Program sponsored by the Princeton Regional Schools. Charles Fox, foreground, won the "rescued boat" prize (it's made of a soda can with a superstructure of two paper cups.) Observers are, left to right, Louis Di Meglio, Lance have a beneficial effect on his self-image," is the way Dr. Anderson puts it.

No formal academic work is programmed into the program, although some of the kids are reading books in the school library.

For the Old. For the high school staff, the idea this year as last, is leadership.

The high school staff is responsible for developing close relationships with the younger kids," says Dr. Anderson. They supervise the youngsters on the field trips and we hope that seeing the problems of these young kids will give them insight into their own problems at the high school."

Also, most important of all perhaps, the high school staff sits down each day with the teaching staff as equals, to plan what's going to happen next.

"I'd like to see the youngest ones involved more in this decision-making, too," Dr. Anderson adds.

Sea and Land. This Thursday, the whole group will climb into four school buses and go off to Island Beach. This Wednesday, they were scheduled to leave at 7 a.m.—seven a.m. for the trip to the Philadelphia Navy Yard and a boat ride around Philadelphia harbor.

State Island ferry? Sure. And the fish hatchery at Hackensack and all the skeletons in Guyot Hall on the University campus.

They went to a local circus, and they tramped through Herndon Woods and they've been at least once to Washington Crossing.

One teacher took his group of ten or so—all groups are about that size to the fish pond on the grounds of Educational Testing Service. Caught 13 fish.

The schedule has been so frenetic that one day when it was announced that no field trips were planned, the staff was startled to hear a sigh of "Whew!" from the littlest ones.

After a trip, they talk about it; "enlarge the experience," Dr. Anderson says. Sometimes they take wood and nails and make something related to the trip. After an excursion to the zoo, they made elephants and other animals out of those plastic bleach bottles.

After the Staten Island ferry ride, they designed and built something together—ferry boats which they later raced in a stream at Washington Crossing. Last week, the youngsters' skill may show up here: one boat was covered with wildly psychodelic wrapping paper.

ALJON'S STORE ROBBED
Windows Broken Later. Borough police are continuing their investigation into a series of events last week at Aljon's No. 2 Submarine Shop, 137 Witherspoon Street.

It began at 2:45 Thursday afternoon when two youths entered the shop and grabbed Keith McKnight, 17, of Princeton Junction, an employee who was alone at the time. As one of the intruders held him down, police said, the other sprayed an irritant into McKnight's face. They then grabbed $120 from the cash register and fled.

The victim was taken to Princeton Hospital by Lt. Michael Carnevale and Det. Robert M. Avena, where he received first aid treatment and was released. Police were not able to identify the irritant.

The next day at 6:47 p.m., Det. Timothy Huang and Ptl. Victor Fasanella arrested a 17-year-old Borough youth in connection with the robbery on Witherspoon Street within a block of the store. He has been detained in Mercer County Jail, pending processing by juvenile authorities in Trenton, on charges of robbery and assault.

The search for his accomplice is continuing. Lt. Carnevale reported.

Early Saturday morning at 1:45, a rock was thrown through a large window at Aljon's. That night, at 6:45 an other large window and the entrance of the front door were broken by rocks.

The latter resulted in the arrest of a 16-year old Borough youth, who police charged with vandalism and destruction of property. Also arrested on Witherspoon within a block of the store, he has been released to the custody of his parents, while awaiting action by juvenile authorities.

Signs calling for the freeing of the youth who had been arrested were reported to have been posted on the windows of Aljon's just prior to the second window breaking incident.

Although Borough police declined to make any comment, the two youths who were arrested were reported to be brothers.

COURT SUIT POSSIBLE

Over Plainsboro Apartments, Plainsboro Township Committee and some 300 residents are at odds over what is the best way to plan for the future urbanization of this quiet, rural community, and it appears the courts may have to settle the matter.

Monday night the three-man committee unanimously passed an ordinance, substantially altering the township's zoning plan to permit a $70 million Planned Community Development (PCD) to locate in the township. Lincoln, Property of Texas is seeking to build a self sustaining apartment community of 5,500 units, plus stores and recreational facilities, over a 15-year period.

The amendment to the zoning ordinance allows for commercial, industrial, office research, recreational and residential uses with open space requirements within 640 acres.

Mayor Henry Jeffers Jr., president of Walker Gordon Farms, told the more than 70 residents in attendance that the township faces a population explosion in the next decade and will soon be forced by the state to provide for low cost housing in the area.

The project would lure industry into the area and set up sewer lines and 80% of the land would be kept as green area, Mr. Jeffers added. The PCD developer would be responsible for providing open space, interior roads, water mains, and gas mains.

Attorney Joseph Stonaker of Princeton, who drew up the ordinance said the plan also provides that if the developers should run into financial difficulties, a tax lien would be put on all properties and someone would buy the development.

Norman White, 16 Princeton Road, spokesman for 200 resident petitioners against the project, said 5,000 apartments over 15 years is too much for the township.

The petition objected to the planned development on the grounds that there is no existing master plan and no existing building code. It also cited traffic problems, necessitating new roads through local farm properties, the need for a full-time police force and new schools.

Mr. White told the committee that his lawyer had advised him to go to court if the ordinance passed. William Brennan, former assistant state attorney general, will represent the petitioners.

Henry Jeffers III, vice-president of Walker Gordon, told those opposed: "In spite of you all, this town is going to grow."

TOPICS Of The Town

BREATHING SPACE . . .
State Extends Incinerator Deadline: Tell us how much time you think you'll need, but we can't give you an in definite extension.

That's what the state's Bureau of Air Pollution Control has told Princeton's Joint Sewer Operating Committee about the sub-standard Princeton incinerator.

The notification, received this week from the state by Donald T. Harney, Borough engineer, removes the pressure of the state's August 15 deadline with its threat to — fix that incinerator or we'll close it down. Princeton has asked the state for a deadline extension of the deadline.

The fault seems to lie with the incinerator's scrubber, that vaunted device which was supposed to solve such problems as flyash.

According to Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, the next step is a conference among Borough-Township engineers, members of the Sewer Operating Committee, manufacturers of the scrubber and the company that installed it, to block out a schedule which can be turned over to the state.

Both mayors — Mr. Cawley and Mayor John D. Wallace of the Township — are interested in the possibilities of a county incinerator. Mayor Wallace told county Freeholders last week (see elsewhere in "Topics of the Town") that the Township is "definitely interested" in discussing Township participation in a county incinerator. Mayor Cawley told his press conference this week that the Borough is interested, too. He said Princeton expects an estimate "any day now" from Metcalfe and Eddy, sewer consultants, on the cost of a full scale study of incinerator problems.

A New Jersey Master Plan on waste disposal is scheduled for August distribution to mayors and municipal planners. Freeholders told the Township they want to see that plan before moving on and will then want to know how many other towns are interested.

WE LIVE IN THE COUNTY

Freeholders Meet Township: Bridges, incinerators, public transportation and mosquitoes were some of the subjects discussed last Thursday when Princeton Township officials sat down with Mercer County Freeholders. (For information on incinerators see elsewhere, "Topics of the Town.")

Freeholders will hold their annual meeting with mayors on August 8, but since Township Mayor John D. Wallace will be on vacation, the meeting with the Township was moved ahead on the calendar.

Unsafe Bridge. The bridge that makes everybody uneasy is the picturesque old stone arch over Stony Brook on Mercer Road just beyond Quaker Bridge Road. The high, curving span is a breeder of accidents.

"Nobody is sure what to do about that bridge," reports Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini, who attended the Freeholder meeting. "But Freeholder Arthur Speyk wants to give the problem top priority. The Township and county are going to exchange data on topography, just to get the ball rolling. But there won't be construction this year, that's certain."

Another ancient bridge — the high one on Provinceline over Stony Brook — also came up for discussion. So did the Harrison Street bridge over Lake Carnegie. It is not quite so old, but it's narrow, hazardous. If it's widened, however, then Harrison Street itself could end up being a four-lane road. Consideration of this problem will probably have to wait for completion of Mercer County's Master Plan, now in the second year of a three-year finish line.

"All these bridges need attention and money," Mr. Nini observes — "but we and the county must do the planning to see how they fit into the overall scheme."

Mosquitoes — is control more of a nuisance than the insect itself? In a pollution-conscious time, complaints about spray trucks have been numerous.

Freeholders explained to the Township that the Mosquito Control Commission is an autonomous body required by state law to conduct a program of mosquito control. Control officials could decide, quite an oversight and one the law that Lake Carnegie, say, or Harry's Brook constitute a health hazard and must be sprayed. Encapsulates, for example, is mosquito-borne.

Vagaries of wind and weather — trucks don't spray if there is wind, and rain washes the chemical (malathion with keroseene) away — make it difficult to announce just when the spraying will appear. However, according to Mr. Nini, they do call the Township on the morning of the evening they expect to spray.

ADDITIONS APPROVED

For Nassau Inn, The Borough Zoning board last week granted Nassau Inn a conditional use permit and a floor area ratio variance for the construction of kitchen and office additions.

The present kitchen, which Inn manager James J. O'Connor described as too small and inefficient, will be extended 13 feet to provide an additional 2,000 square feet of space. Bounded by the main room, the dining room and the Coach Room, the kitchen could not be relegated, Mr. O'Connor testified.

Some 1,500 square feet of office space will be built on a second level above the kitchen addition. The space is needed for six office workers, Mr. O'Connor said, to handle the increased administrative and paper work involved as the Inn increasingly becomes a center for business conferences, banquets and weddings.

Asked by a board member if it were just "mere council dence" that the Inn's application came hard on the heels of the closing of the Princeton Inn, and "What are your future plans?" Mr. O'Connor replied, "We're just looking for increased efficiency."

The board granted approval on condition that the necessary three off street parking spaces be provided by the applicant, and that the applicant give proof that such spaces were available. John Yeoman, treasurer of Palmer Square Inn, owner of the Inn, had reported that the Haffish Street lot across the street contained nearly 500 spaces, most of them allocated. The actual figures: 476 spaces 182 allocated.

Denist Peter McMauro received a recommendation from the board that Mayor and Council grant him a use variance to convert the first floor of 14 Vandeventer Avenue into a dental office.

Mr. McMauro plans to purchase the three-story double house at 1211 Vandeventer from owners James and Anna Smith who will maintain a life interest in the property. Both are in their 80s.

Mr. McMauro's attorney, William C. Baggett also asked for a waiver of three offstreet parking spaces and a variance from the open space requirement but ordered the applicant to provide eight parking spaces (he provided seven in his application) until life rights by the Smiths were relinquished. The conversion to joint occupancy also needs site plan approval.

Mr. McMauro, who currently has an office at 245 Nassau Street told the board that he would see a maximum of 12 patients a day in addition to

Although I'd like
A little rain,
I hate to see
Grass grow again!

The grass won't do much growing between now and the weekend. Long range forecasts expect this uncomfortable combination of heat and humidity to stick around through Saturday, with a possible change by Sunday.

The late afternoon thunder showers is always a possibility, but it's become a pretty remote one over the past couple of weeks.

his office there will be four apartments in the building. There were no objections from neighbors.

Samuel Myers 114 Mercer Street, expects a 2.65 foot yard variance to permit an addition to his dining room. Attny Gordon Strauss pointed out that a vacant lot next to the Myers home owned by Princeton University was one of the widest on the street.

No Decision On U Store. In the application by Princeton University to convert part of the basement of the University Store to retail space, the board announced it could not make a decision until July 30, when it will hold a special meeting to review the case.

Zoning officer Bernard Glover has ruled the application is an extension of a non conforming use and therefore not permitted.

Attorneys John Dummit and Frank Reiche for the University argued that when the University appeared before the board in February, 1967 to construct the present U Store the board then authorized use of the entire building. "The concept was an integrated one," said Mr. Reiche.

"Since the use is the same, no additional relief is needed," he continued. "The use is an authorized use." In the alternative, he said that the university would argue the store is a conditional use in an educational zone that permits retail stores devoted primarily to the sale of educational and athletic supplies.

Non conforming use? Conditional use? The board has in decide.

BOROUGH SEAT LOST?

Probably, On School Board. According to unofficial first census counts, the Borough will lose one of its five seats on the Princeton Regional School Board.

The board has had five Borough and four Township members ever since reorganization of the two districts. The proportion is determined by population.

First census returns show that the Township has outgrown the Borough, and if the final, certified count confirms this shift, the Borough will hand over one of its seats to its next door neighbor.

William Evans, school board secretary, said this week he has been conferring on the matter with Edward A. Callahan, county superintendent of schools, and Thomas Cook, school board lawyer.

The deadline for candidates to file for the February, 1971 election is December 23. Mr. Evans doesn't think the certified figures will have been presented to Governor William C. Callahan by that time. This would mean that the present ratio will continue until 1972.

School board members whose terms expire in February are William Z. Abrams and John Marks, both Borough, and William Marvel, Township.

POLICE CHARGE YOUTH With Marijuana Possession. Anthony Boone, 18, of 116 Leigh Avenue, is awaiting a hearing August 19 in Township Court following his arrest last week by the police, who have charged him with possession of marijuana.

Boone was arrested in the vicinity of the Medical Arts Building on Waterspout Street by P.D. David T. Potts. Charge will also be pressed against a juvenile who was in Boone's company at the time, police said.

A Trenton man was also picked up last week on a warrant held by Township Detective Samuel Bianco, who charged him with possession of marijuana.

Larry Bostick, 22, had been implicated in the breaking and entering and larceny of a room on Ridgeview Road last month. During their search of the car used in the crime, police discovered marijuana.

At the time of his arrest, B. Det. Bianco, Bostick was in jail on a charge by the Trenton police of carrying a concealed weapon. He was later released on $1,000 bail, which covers both charges.

COPPER ROLLS STOLEN

From Grover Lumber. Three rolls of copper flashing valued at $45 were stolen during the weekend from the Grover Lumber Company on Alexander Street.

Police said that apparently the intruders climbed over a rear fence and then forced the door to the hardware shed. The theft was reported Monday by William J. Graddy, vice-president of the firm.

An estimated $145 in cigarettes and change were stolen during the weekend from a vending machine inside the Olden Lane door of the computer building at the Institute for Advanced Study.

Police said that the machine, owned by the Unit Vending Company of Trenton, had been jimmied open and its coin box removed. There was no forced entry to the building. Sgt. Robert Heacock of the Township police investigated.

SO LONG, MARY!

YOUTH Director Leaving

Mary came to us in 1968 bringing her delightful sense of humor, an unusual ability to relate to people and an abiding concern for the welfare of all young people. That's the YWCA talking.

"I'm the kind of person kids didn't mind talking to, and if I didn't feel like talking at that particular moment, I just told them to wait 'til I did!" That's Mary.

"Mary" is Mary Young, youth program director of the Princeton YWCA, who is leaving the "Y" — "abandoning" the "Y", in the tearful opinion of her young associates — to start on her master's degree in social work at Rutgers.

Mary isn't anywhere near 30 yet, which gives her a start on relating to people even younger than she is. She has the bounce and bite of a tart lemon soda, and talk about knowing kids . . . !

"Kids will test you. They want to see what they can get away with. When they find your limit, then your relationship goes on from there."

"These girls, they knew exactly when it was time to clean up the mess they'd been making in the 'Y' kitchen, so they picked that time to come around and say how much they wanted to talk to me. I bawled them out and sent them back to clean up."

Who will miss Mary most? Impossible to say. But probably the 13 and 14-year-old girls in Soul Sisters, Inc.

"This is an all-black group there, wasn't any such group and it filled a need at the time, which is why I started it. Nobody seems to know who will take it over."

The "Activators," girls from every high school in the United Fund area and the "Gillettes," which were already here when Mary came, will join the ranks of mourners.

The ebullient Miss Young is a native of Berkeley, California. Her father, Dr. Filzroy Young, is chief of staff at Herrick Hospital in Berkeley. Her mother — well, her mother just housed and fed 25 boys and girls from the Princeton YWCA. Cross-Country jaunt, who happened to stop off in Berkeley.

MARY YOUNG: She's leaving the YWCA — an unthinkable act — where she's been youth program director for two years. "Kooky, kooky," "Fun Drama," "Afro dance," "Job Clinic," "Alan, Alan Club" — a partial list of Y activities, she's started.

Mary majored in social work here at San Francisco State — before it became so newsworthy and colorful — and did her undergraduate field work at an inner-city San Francisco YWCA which was "on the way up Nob Hill."

Her young charges were pre-delinquent — did you ever hear such an awful word? I told them "If you get worse, I can't work with you. If you get better, we can have a good time." It was one of the better experiences I had at school and I stayed on without academic credit after the field work period was over.

Mary came to the "Y" straight from two Peace Corps years in Niger. That's not Nigeria, but Niger: the little country so close to the desert of the Sahara it is almost desert, too.

I loved it. I want to go back. I'd rather die of malaria there than old-age here! When I came here, I was scared so bad I couldn't cross the street! That's really a boon, doc country: no big towns."

She was an assistant midwife in Niger. At Rutgers, she'll be the "resource person" (read "den mother") for the African and Afro-American House at Douglass College.

I'll have an apartment right in the House," she says, wide-eyed, "they've decorated it for me, Afro style! I'll get tuition, room and board and my books — what a deal — now you can peel me grapes!"

"I haven't any idea what a 'resource person' is. They call me that because I've been to Africa. I brought back some real African clothes — the 'pagne,' that's the skirt and the 'mouchoir,' that's the turban. The girls in the House at Douglass won't have real ones like mine, but I'll show them how to wrap what they've got so it looks authentic!"

"What did the Princeton Y mean to me? I have a greater sense of self development now. But it's the personal contacts that mean the most. Getting young people together — they are our last hope! You appeal to their sense of daring and courage and when they get all excited about something, you try to channel that excitement. No, I don't mean that; you don't do something FOR them. You show them alternatives and help them see an idea to completion."

SIX ARE FINED $15 In Borough Court. Six Princeton area residents were fined $15 each in Borough court Monday by Judge Donald R. Bryant Jr. of Pennington, who was substituting for Judge Theodore T. Tamm Jr.

They are Charles F. Martinson, 22, 8 Brookstone Drive, and Joette Rosentweig, 34, 172 Graduate College, both careless driving; Coleman D. Donaldson Jr., 22, 62 Liberty Place, and Jeffery Bannon, 17, 88 N. Harrison Street, both failure to wear goggles while

THE PUZZLERS RETURN

With Words Of Advice, A year ago, a batch of turned off youngsters from Trenton's Junior High School No. 3 sat down in various classrooms at Princeton Day School and leaned back, waiting for things to happen.

"I guess they wanted us to perform for them," says John [Saladino, PDS math teacher] who is head of the program in Trenton in and out of the youth.

The boys and girls were puzzlers — inattentive in class during their regular school, often absent, yet known by their teachers to be capable of excellence. A boy, failing in English for instance, could read at a mid-high school level.

During the summer of '69 at PDS, the computer intrigued them into learning math. Drama classes brought out talents of observation, acting and honesty in relationships. Arts and crafts blended into science. All this, with an unpressured environment, sent a fairly high-rolling group back to Junior Three for the regular term.

Core Group. Most of the students are back again this summer. Their role is now "counselor" to a new batch of "turned off" kids. The school is humming with about 90 youngsters, age 12 to 14, enrolled in the "Summer Computer Enrichment Program." They've brought two teachers from Junior Three with them this summer and the emphasis is on an enrichment program with remedial work in math and English.

"We are working out of these areas," Mr. Saladino says, back again this year in his director's role. "The program includes drama, communication media, ecology, and a series of special interest clubs devoted to photography, journalism, instrumental and choral music, computer, and in place a counselor from Junior Three." — Judo.

Mrs. Helen Johnson of UPI who is head of the program in Trenton in and out of the youth.

The young counselors at the PDS based school about 30 in number include high school age students from Princeton Day School, Montsomy Township High School and Hopewell Valley Regional High School as well as from Junior Three. Gil Farr, who graduated from PDS last June, serves as assistant director. "Part of this program is staff training. Mrs. Johnson notes.

The day is devoted to morning classes and afternoon clubs, with Fridays reserved for special jaunts. This isn't, however, a formal class approach," Mr. Saladino explains. "We are trying to give the child the attention he needs and the kind of stimulus that will respond to."

Art is no longer a part of the program as a class, but it crops up in meeting theatre needs for sets. Grades are unimportant, but the first issue of the journalism club's "SCIENCE," with its high, self-imposed standards by the youngsters.

Remedial reading pairs off students and teachers on a 1 to 1 or 1 to 2 basis, with much assistance from the counselors. "We have all levels of reading ability here," Mr. Saladino reports. "Some just don't have the vocabulary, others just don't have the — Continued on Next Page

Movie-geeks! Get In Library

Your friendly Princeton public library is showing free movies each Tuesday night at 8 in the air-conditioned comfort of the meeting room upstairs.

Trouble is, the meeting room is small and the library has had to turn on happy moviegoers away when they come too late. Lines have been forming as early as 7:15 for the 8 o'clock showings, and people who arrive close to 8 may find the "Sorry!" sign hung on the door.

This Tuesday, the film will be a good old horror story called "The Raven," and for THAT one, you'd better get there at dawn. Five shorts will be shown Tuesday, August 11: "Pigs," "Snow," "The Hand," "American Time Capsule," and "Timepiece." Humphrey Bogart's classic "Key Largo" is down for August 18, and that's sure to bring out the crowds.

"Black Orpheus" will be the final film in the series, scheduled for showing on Tuesday, August 25.

New Home for Child Guidance's Drug Program

Adolescents troubled, up tight, on drugs or afraid they're going to be are invited to drop in at 91 Witherspoon Street — a big, friendly, tan-colored house next to the Atlantic gas station.

This is the new home for the so-called "drug abuse" program of the Mercer County Child Guidance agency. It is supported by Borough and Township municipal governments, the United Fund and various other sources.

It is also the place to call — 923-3130 — for information about drugs.

Until now, adolescents and their Child Guidance contacts — Mrs. Hilda Wiletsky or one of her associates — have been meeting at the agency's Nassau Street offices.

The Witherspoon Street house offers more space and considerably more privacy. There's a big living-room, dining-room, entrance hall, four upstairs bedrooms, a workable kitchen, a heated and enclosed porch and a lot of parking in a space at the rear of the driveway.

Furniture is on the most-needed list. Gifts of comfortable chairs, lamps, tables, rugs will be gratefully and eagerly accepted.

Topics Of The Town Continued From Page 7

reading, skills. We've also found a few visual or auditory problems. Tests range from "We are Black" published by Scientific Research Associates to current magazines.

Something Special Friday is the summer school's "Something Special Day," planned so that the teachers could spend a day with the students in a non-classroom environment. This has resulted in trips to Washington Crossing Park, Franklin Institute, At lantic City and Lord Stirling Park. The park trips, held in to the ecology study — which ranges from dissecting bird bodies to botany.

The summer program is in mid session now, with the new batch of youngsters at the point where they don't want to act in the teacher's skirts; they want to write their own. Two SCIEP students missed the bus one morning at Junior Three and rode their bicycles out to PDS, determined to get there.

"We wouldn't come if this was just a recreation program," said one child. "After all, we have basketball courts in Trenton."

Teachers this year include Robert Matlock (mathematics) and Jerry Cogan (communications), both from Junior Three; Anton Lemil (math) and Mack Lewis (English), both from Montgomery Township High School; Bernice Donaldson (geology) of the Bunkley School, New York City; Kim Pietrak, (drama) Montgomery; Judy Swanson of Princeton High School and John Ivors, PDS, both of whom lead the sports program.

Also Frank Jacobson (music) of PDS, and Peter Strauss and Maria Minerva, assistant teachers.

Last winter, Junior Three found that the core group from the summer program were seldom absent from class. Their school work improved. Mr. Salidino and several others kept in touch with the youngsters, largely through an after-school computer club that was formed.

"One of the big things that we are beginning to recognize," he says, "is that we have to establish some sort of dialogue with Junior Three so that they know what we are doing and we know what they are doing. We could improve both ways."

AREA GIRL INJURED

In Car Crash in Canada. A 13-year-old Lawrenceville girl was seriously injured and another woman killed in a two-car accident July 21 in Con-way, Nova Scotia.

Miss Locke Sharp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Sharp, 1700 Main Street, Lawrenceville, was hospitalized in Digby General Hospital's intensive care section with a broken pelvis. She is also suffering from internal injuries and bleeding.

Mrs. Joan Ann Jarvis, 28, of Cambridge, Mass., died as a result of her injuries suffered in the crash. Miss Sharp was a passenger in a car driven by Dr. Allen G. Shensstone, III, Mercer Street, a retired professor of physics at Princeton University. Mrs. Jarvis was a passenger in a car driven by her husband.

Other passengers in the Shenstone car were Miss Jill Anne Bielawski, 15, of Princeton and Mrs. Shensstone. The occupants had been vacationing at the Har-bour View House in Smiths Cove, Nova Scotia.

The accident is being investigated by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Digby. No charges have been made, according to Corporal Arnold Baldwin.

SEEK TO BUY TRACT

For Battletield Park. Over $10,000 toward purchase of the Weller tract has been received by the New Jersey Historic Trust from donors in various parts of the state, according to Harold C. Hoffman, chairman of the Trust's board of trustees.

The tract adjoins Princeton Battletield Park. It is owned by the Institute for Advanced Study which would like to build faculty homes on the land. The Princeton Battletield and Stony Brook Preservation Society, formed in June, has launched a campaign to raise funds to buy the land from the Institute.

The value of the parcel — about 12 acres — has been estimated at $150,000 to $175,000. "The New Jersey Historic Trust is on record as favoring the acquisition of the optimum acreage needed to preserve in fact, the unique historic and open space area of the Princeton Battletield site," Mr. Hoffman declared. "Contributions are tax deductible."

CITIZENS CLUB TO MEET
Next Tuesday at Noon. The Lawrence Township Senior Citizens Club has planned a meeting for noon, next Tuesday at the American Legion Headquarters, Post 414, 100 Berwyn Place in Lawrence Township. There will be a social hour preceding the business meeting which is set for 1 p.m. Plans for the fall meetings will be discussed and refreshments and entertainment will be provided.

Do you find it hard to love?

Many people do. In this busy age we seem too often to be preoccupied with our own problems and unable to reach out to others.

But all of us need to feel a deeper sense of love, and that when we love, and to be loved.

The Bible shows us how.
It teaches that God is Love, and that when we turn to Him we can feel and express a sense of love we have never known before.

In this week's Bible
Lesson on "I Love" you can learn how to feel the presence of divine Love in your life. You are warmly invited to read it in our Reading

BUSINESS In Princeton

HOFFMAN NAMED AT ORC Replaces Bevis as Chairman.
Hugh C. Hoffman, Orchard Lane, Lawrenceville, has been appointed chairman of the board of Opinion Research Corporation, succeeding Joseph C. Bevis, who has retired from the company.

As chairman of the board,
Mr. Hoffman will have charge of overall new product planning and development and supervision of the firm's international subsidiaries.

Since joining ORC in 1945,
Mr. Hoffman has been active in both research and client relationships. As an editor of the ORC Public Opinion Index, he worked for many years in such fields as communications research and corporate image measurement. He also headed the group which conducted ORC's initial Tastemaker research exploring early product adoption.

NEW MANAGER NAMED

For Dataram Marketing
Dataram Corporation, a manufacturer of computer and associated products on Route 208, has appointed Donald T.
Avery of Princeton Junction as marketing manager. A native of Endicott, N. Y., Mr.
Avery will be responsible for product planning, product direction, budget, market research, over all sales and advertising for the Corporation.
Mr. Avery was formerly employed at Ferroxcube Corporation in Saugerties, N. Y., and also worked as design engineer for Honeywell, Computer Division, Waltham, Mass. He received a B.S. in mechanical engineering from Rutgers Institute of Technology and attended North western University.

CHUBB NOW STG. KNOXIDER

With 25¢ in Wood & Tower.
The Chubb Corporation of New York, a holding company in insurance and related services, has acquired a 25% interest in Wood & Tower, Inc.
A professional consulting organization in construction cost management based in Princeton and Greenwich, Conn.
Wood & Tower has provided budgetary advice for construction projects for the past 20 years. They are currently engaged in more than 50 construction projects, the majority of which are in the fields of education and health care.
It is anticipated that this relationship with Chubb Corporation will enable Wood & Tower to

James L. Billmeyer

capitalize on its marketing potential to the benefit of both organizations.

NEW OFFICER NAMED

At Bank and Trust Company.
James L. Billmeyer, 59 College Road, West, has been appointed a trust officer at the Princeton Bank and Trust Company.

A native of Iowa, Mr. Bill-meyer has attended Lorain College, Dubuque; and Old Dominion University of Norfolk, Va. He was also a part of the U.S. Naval Reserve and was formerly employed at the Virginia National Bank.

THREE JOIN RCA STAFF

At Samuel Research Center.
Three Princeton area scientists have joined the RCA staff at the David Sarnoff Research Center on Route One. The new members are: Dr. Donald J. Channing, Princeton North, formerly at Cranbury;
Dr. William E. Ham, 15 Manning
Lane, Lawrenceville; and Dr.
Ronald S. Scott, Devonshire
Drive, Cranbury.

Dr. Scott is employed in quantum electronics research.
He was graduated from Case Institute of Technology in 1964 with a B.S. in physics. He received his doctorate in experimental physics from Cornell University this June.

A native of Oklahoma, Dr.
Ham received his B.S. and M.S. in electrical engineering from the University of Oklahoma both in 1966. This May he was awarded his Ph.D. degree from Southern Methodist University. Dr. Ham is associated with the integrated circuit center.

Dr. Scott, now part of general devices research group, came from Pennsylvania and graduated with a B.S. in chemistry from Swarthmore

College in 1963. He received his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in chemical physics both from the University of Illinois.
Prior to joining RCA, Dr.
Scott was Assistant professor of chemistry at the University of Virginia.

A fourth engineer has joined the scientific staff at the Research Center in Princeton.
Dr. Chaimula L. Upadhyayula, Northgate Apartments, Cranbury, is now a member of the microwave applied research laboratory.

A native of India, Dr. Upad-hyayula was formerly employed at the Atomic Energy Establishment in Bombay. He received his B.S. degree in physics in 1955 from W.G.B.
College in Bhubnaram. In 1958 he was awarded his M.S. in applied physics from Andhra University. After moving to the United States, Dr. Upad-hyayula received his doctorate in engineering from Brown University in 1968.

Cicada's Song Is More Than an Idle Tune

Now departed from the Princeton scene, the 17-year cicadas were of little more than nuisance value to the residents whose yards they infested. A team of Princeton University scientists, however, used the rare abundance of insects to conduct research on their hearing and sound-producing abilities, and have released some interesting conclusions.

Evidence uncovered by the scientists, working in the University's Auditory Research Laboratory, indicates that the cicadas raucous cries may play an unusual role in ensuring the survival of three separate coexisting species. Among their findings:

- The two species studied most closely the third was far less abundant in and around Princeton) operate on separate communications channels. That is, the sounds produced are different in frequency, and one species cannot hear the other.

- The sounds, when produced together, comprise a noise of such loudness that it may cause permanent injury to the ear drums of some mammals.

- Taken together, the sound frequencies emitted by the cicadas (1000-1500 cycles per second (cps) in one species, 4000-6000 in the other) cover the most sensitive hearing range of birds, their natural predators. Thus, as cicadas congregate in large numbers and for mating, the loudness of their sounds drives birds — and virtually all other visible animal life — away.

- The different species respond to sound in different ways; a cicada of one species always waits for the sound of its neighbor to stop before beginning to produce sound itself, while the cry of another species is triggered by the start of its neighbor's cry. The result is a constant background din punctuated regularly by extremely loud peaks.

The findings were described in conversation by Dr. James A. Simmons, a post doctoral fellow in the Auditory Research Laboratory. Others who are participating in the continuing research effort are Dr. Ernest Glen Weaver, the Eugene Higgins Professor of Psychology and Director of the Auditory Research Laboratory; Dr. William P. Strober, Lecturer and Research Staff Member in Psychology; Miss Glennis R. Long, a graduate student in Psychology; and Joseph Pyka, a Laboratory Staff Member and electronics technician.

The researchers measured the cicadas' noise production and their hearing abilities, both "on location" and in the research facilities at the Laboratory, which is located on the James Forrestal Campus, about three miles from Princeton's main campus. One experiment involved implanting tiny electrodes in the auditory receptors of the cicadas, to measure the electrically encoded signals from various sound frequencies.

Dr. Simmons said that, although it was well known that three separate species were present in this year's "Brood X" cicadas, it had not been previously known how extensively they differed in their hearing and singing abilities, or how they used their sound jointly for self protection.

"One possible reason for the different frequencies of the different species," he said, "is to facilitate mating. Since one species cannot hear the other, there is no attraction between species for mating."

Birds Can't Take It. "On the other hand," he continued, "we didn't know how extremely effective the sounds are in keeping the birds away. Whenever we observed large populations of cicadas, birds and every other visible moving thing — even people — simply left the area."

Dr. Simmons said that many common species of birds hear most sensitively in the 1000-4000 cps range. Thus, he suggested, the different species of cicadas, with their cries of different frequencies, in effect "cooperate with one another to ensure protection from many kinds of birds."

Measuring the noise produced beneath a tree in which thousands of the insects had congregated, Dr. Simmons found a sound intensity of 80 to 100 decibels some 60 feet away from the noise center — the equivalent of the noise produced by a pneumatic hammer, or a subway screeching to a halt in an underground station. "In mammals, damage to the eardrum is readily produced by sounds of this intensity," Dr. Simmons said.

Since the sound was so potentially dangerous, the researchers sought to determine how the cicadas themselves avoided injury. They found that even though the eardrum is located only a fraction of an inch away from the sound producing mechanism, the insect has a built-in protective device. To prevent destruction of hearing, a tiny muscle automatically collapses the eardrum just before the onset of sound, thereby reducing hearing ability — for the duration of the noise — by 75 percent and more.

Another unexpected finding involved the two distinct ways in which one cicada stimulates another to produce sound. One species (known as Magicicada septendecim) is stimulated to produce sound most often only after hearing a neighbor stop producing sound. The result, where many insects are congregated, is a continuous tone of even loudness.

Another species (Magicicada cassini) they found, is stimulated by the onset of sound from a neighbor. The result is a series of growing peaks or pulses of sound, increasing in loudness as one after another of the species joins in the cry.

And the joint effect is to provide the insects with a sound "umbrella" — with that to mate in safety.

With their supply of live cicadas gone for another 17 years, the Princeton researchers are turning in a careful anatomical study of several preserved specimens of each species, and preparing a more technical presentation of their findings for a scientific meeting this fall.

METERS GIVEN TIME

By Council. The question of one-hour overall parking meters for Princeton's center city will be discussed by Borough Council next Thursday, August 6, at the monthly agenda session. Mayor Robert W. Cavley said this week.

UNIVERSITY, TOWN UNITE.
In Educational Experiment.
A many-faceted educational experiment now underway at Princeton University's School of Engineering and Applied Science is drawing together Princeton middle school students and teachers, student counselors from the University and from area high schools.
University faculty members and local residents in a month-long program of engineering instruction, laboratory work and field trips for 32 Princeton middle school boys.

The effort, called Experimental Program: Summer in Engineering, is now in its second year at Princeton. Among its aims, as designated by a town gown, student faculty committee, which met regularly during the past academic year, are:

- To increase motivation
among the middle school participants for their regular school work in mathematics and the sciences;
- To interest the University student counselors in the opportunities in public school teaching;
- To develop a continuing relationship among the Princeton public schools, members of the local black community, and the University's School of Engineering and Applied Science
during the school year;
- To interest the high school counselors in careers in technology;
- To involve members of the local community more closely in the process of educational planning;
- And, finally, to acquaint Princeton engineering faculty members with the educational needs of the local community.

Counselors, involved in the activities, in addition to the 32 middle schoolers, are five counselors from Trenton and Princeton High Schools; 10 student counselors from Princeton University; seven Princeton faculty members; two teachers from Princeton public schools; and eight local residents who have served on the committee.

At the focus of the effort, the Boroughs and Township middle schoolers arrive each weekday at the Engineering Quadrangle or at the nearby James Furtess Campus for a morning of laboratory and classroom studies of such engineering areas as the basic principles of rocket flight and building design, the uses of the computer and the slide rule, the analysis of electrical circuitry and chemical processes.

The youths, divided into four groups, spend a week in each of the four Departments of the Engineering School: Aerospace
and Mechanical Sciences, Chemical Engineering, Civil
and Geological Engineering, and Electrical Engineering.

To a large extent, the subject matter has been planned and the teaching carried out by the Princeton University and graduates, with the high school students acting as their assistants. Participating in the operation on a daily basis has been Howard McMaster, a Princeton middle school science teacher.

Sports, too, in the afternoons, for those who wish, the counselors have organized informal recreational programs at the University's Dillon Gymnasium.

Breaking up this routine have been day-long trips to the chemical laboratories of Merck & Co. in Rahway, to the Science Museum of the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia, and to the RCA Laboratories in Princeton.

After the summer phase of the program ends on July 31, according to David P. Billington, Princeton Professor of Civil Engineering and coordinator of the overall effort, the student engineers, teachers and counselors of the Community Planning Committee will seek to develop a continuing liaison with the Princeton middle schools, and with the individual youth participants.

The program is being funded by grants from Princeton Trinity Episcopal Parish, Title of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, the Princeton Class of 1959, and several other organizations and individuals.

TO HEAR BENEATH THE WORDS...

By Mother Mary Cecelia Wheeler

Parents, teachers and youth are involved in a crisis of communication. We are but too familiar with the cry, "If they would only listen to me!" Sometimes "they" means "my parents," sometimes "my children," or "my teacher," but whatever its referent, whatever the degree of anguish accompanying the cry, the operative word is "listen", and that word is ambiguous.

To listen, in this context, is not just to hear, nor even to hear with attention to what is said. It means to hear beneath the words, the undertone; to catch through speech, the feeling; to grasp through explication, the implication.

To listen is to be an artist in people, as well as in words.

This act of communicating is relational, of speaker to listener, of words to feelings, of literal meaning to implication. The speaker must ask, "In what words can I best express my meaning to this person?" He must also ask what feelings in himself about these ideas will be communicated to the other, and how the listener will feel in response.

Similarly, the hearer must ask himself what is really being said, and with what undertone of feeling. The personality of the speaker reacts to the personality of the listener, the feelings of the one with the feelings of the other, at least as much as the ideas they mutually try to communicate.

Consider the teacher who dialogues with a student about a poor paper, the parent who discusses the use of the car on Saturday night, the boy or girl who argues against "the establishment." Teacher and student have feelings about that paper. Frustration, anger, pity, surprise, disbelief may underlie the teacher's comments. Shame, bravado, guilt, despair, discouragement or nonchalance may color the student's response.

Father and son feel strongly about the car, youth about "the establishment", and their feelings will color the words they use and the way they will hear one another. The failure to listen may well be insensitivity to the feelings underlying the dialogue, feelings which are often more relevant to the argument than the words used.

The understanding of how another person feels is not nurtured by argument, however surely it is the fruit of conversation. One reason, perhaps, why the young empathize with one another so well is that they talk to one another so much, not in the spirit of debaters, but simply as communicators, as eager, involved, questioning persons who want to share themselves and their thoughts with someone who will reciprocate.

Communications break down, perhaps, because adults are too busy with their own and their world's concerns to have time for talk when no deep, personal feeling is involved, but when the ground of future understanding can be laid by quiet, unpressured exchange of ideas on life and its meaning, the world and its problems.

What happens all too frequently is that both parties come to an encounter with feelings high and understanding low. As debate is joined on a clear and present issue, of importance to both, the incomprehension of each for the feelings of the other nullify any effort to communicate on the level of the issue itself.

Each thinks that the other is not listening. Neither realizes that his own misapprehended emotions are talking so loudly that his message is unintelligible. The teacher's frustration over his own failure to teach comes as anger; the student's hopeless discouragement at his own performance seems to be bravado. The father's concern for the safety of his son is read by the boy as distrust of his competence, while the boy's desire to face his peers with dignity comes across to the father as sheer arrogance.

If the charge, "you are not listening" is not to be levelled at all of us, we must learn to recognize, even in moments of stress, that no message is communicated uncolored by both the speaker's and the listener's feelings. We must all learn to ask ourselves:

"What is he REALLY saying to me?"

"What is he REALLY feeling about what he is saying?"

"To what extent are my own feelings deafening me to his message?"

Psychological deafness is not native to the human condition, any more than physical deafness — but it is much more prevalent, and much more serious.

It can be cured, and must be, if the generation and credibility gaps are to be closed and communication re-opened between those who are now "established", and those upon whom the future of our world rests, and rests secretly — if we but had ears to hear.

Obituaries

Mrs. Nellie Johnson Coale, 89, died July 24 in the Mersewck Unit of Princeton Hospital. Born in Fairfield, Ill., she had been a Princeton resident for 22 years.

She had resided in Annapolis, Md., where her husband, the late Rev. James J. Coale, was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. She attended Northwestern University, taught remedial reading following her husband's death.

She is survived by two sons, Ansley Coale of Princeton and James J. Coale III of Balti more, Md.; a daughter, Virginia Fisher of Sherman, Conn.; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild. The service was held at the First Presbyterian Church, Annapolis, Md., with interment in Cedar Bluff Cemetery, Annapolis. Arrangements here were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Mrs. Cara Norton, 79, former Hopewell resident, died July 24 in Keary.

She is survived by her husband, Frank Norton, a son, Frank, of Rochester; three daughters, Mrs. Isabel Wick of Tusculum, Mrs. Mary Deacon of Harrison and Mrs. Ruth Walmer of Honesell; two sisters, Mrs. Florence Wick of Teaton and Mrs. Rose Miller of Crosswicks; 19 grandchildren, 40 great grandchildren and a foster daughter, Beverly of Passaic.

The service was held at the Cromwell Memorial Home with interment in Highland Cemetery.

Charles Kenneth Wallace, 75, Director of the Work Study Program and of Alumni Appointments in Princeton University's Placement Bureau from 1946 until his retirement in 1960, died July 24 in Johnsburg, Va. He had been residing since retirement in Peacham, Va., and Jamesburg, N.J.

A naval veteran of two world wars, Wallace's initial responsibility at Princeton was to assist alumni veterans mustered out of the Armed Forces after World War II to obtain positions in business, industry and education. This was accomplished through the Princeton Personnel Index then a function of the Princeton Alumni Council.

As the peak load of returning veterans gradually diminished, the responsibilities of the Personnel Index were absorbed by the Placement Bureau where Mr. Wallace played a major role in developing the Work Study Program, under which undergraduates obtain summer jobs, largely between junior and senior years. Mr. Wallace, a native of South Orange, N.J., entered Princeton from Newark Academy where he had been president of his class. He was a member of the Princeton Class of 1918, leaving Princeton at the end of junior year to enter the U.S. Naval Academy. Commissioned in the Navy he served in World War I as a deck officer aboard the cruiser U.S.S. Columbia.

Following the war Mr. Wallace, a former Secretary of the Princeton Class of 1918 and long active in Princeton alumni affairs, entered the investment securities business in New York and for two decades was associated principally with Keen, Taylor & Co. and Graham, Parsons & Co. With the outbreak of World War II he again volunteered for active naval duty.

After serving as a training officer in Dartmouth College's Naval Induction School and at Princeton in a similar capacity as officer in charge, Seaman's Department, he was assigned to an attack transport in the South Pacific. He was injured in a landing craft accident in the Philippines and was retired with the rank of Lieutenant Commander.

Major Colin F. Fry, U.S. Air Force, formerly of Princeton, died July 26 in Salem, Virginia Veterans Hotel. Born in Hampton, England, in 1908, he became a United States citizen while serving in the U.S. Army during World War II. He was a former assistant professor of Air Force Academy in Princeton. He retired from the Air Force while serving as Air Force Academy liaison officer for the Air Force Academy in Denver.

Major Fry is survived by a son, Malcolm A. Fry of Philadelphia, Pa.; a daughter, Mrs. Marjorie A. Cook, Richmond, Va.; and three grandchildren. A graveside service was held under the direction of the Woods Funeral Home of Henrico County, Virginia.

Mrs. Margaret McGill Smith, 89, died in Princeton Hospital July 25. She had lived with her son, Gale M. Smith, 673 Prospect Avenue, since 1965. Born in Owensboro, Ky., Mrs. Smith was a longtime resident of Cicconia, Grove, Miami, Fla. She is also survived by three grandchildren. The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home with the Rev. Joseph O. Rand of First Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment will be at the convenience of the family.

Mrs. Robert G. Hirsch, 64, 1865 Kingston Road, died July 23 in Princeton Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born in New York City, Mrs. Hirsch was a former concert pianist. She is survived by her husband, Charles J. Hirsch, an executive at RCA, a sister, Mrs. Edgar Richter of Great Neck, and neices and nephews.

The service was held from the Kimble Funeral Home with Rabbi Abner Ginsburgh officiating. Interment was private. Memorial contributions may be made to the Princeton Hospital Memorial Fund.

Mr. Wallace is survived by his widow, the former Helen Trump Field of Detroit, Mich.; a resident of Peacham, Va. and Jamesburg, N.J.; a son, Charles Kenneth Wallace, Jr. and two grandsons.

The funeral was held July 27 at the Caldwell Memorial Chapel, St. Johnsbury, Me., where memorial contributions may be sent to the Public Library, Peacham, Vermont 05662.

John Davidson Sr., 68, of 208 Franklin Avenue, died July 23 in Princeton Hospital. He was a retired mason and bricklayer.

Mr. Davidson, a native of Scotland, had been employed by Princeton University. He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and held 30, Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers Union. He is survived by his wife, Mildred Z. Davidson, a son, John Jr. of Princeton; a daughter, Mrs. Beatrice A. Deaton of Princeton Junction; two grandchildren, a brother, James J. Davidson of Princeton and two sisters, Mrs. Tim Carroll, 1000 Princeton, and Mrs. Carry Hahn of Morrisville, Pa. The service was held in the Mother, Father, Home, Rev. J. Hugh Liffitt of St. Andrew's Church officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Mrs. Anna R. Dunn of 10 Cannon Avenue, Princeton, died July 22 in the Lawrenceville Nursing Home. She was the widow of Frank B. Dunn. A Trenton resident for 50 years, Mrs. Dunn moved to Princeton 12 years ago. She was a member of Morning Star Chapter 22, OES, and the Auxiliary of the Master Plumbers Association.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Walter C. King, with whom she lived; two grandsons; two great-granddaughters; and two brothers, Joseph Kirkpatrick of Philadelphia and Frederick Kirkpatrick of Huntington Beach, Calif.

The service was held in the Blackwell Memorial Home, the Rev. Lawrence Moore of the Princeton Methodist Church officiating. Interment was in Fwing Cemetery.

Mrs. Rosa Jackson Phipps, 2, Franklin Terrace, died July 25 in Princeton Hospital after a lengthy illness. She was the widow of Ebenezer Phipps.

Born in South Carolina, she had been a resident of this area for many years. She was a member of the Mount Pisgah A.M.E. Church of Princeton.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Annie Brown of Philadelphia, Mrs. Mary Hamilton of Covards S.C., and Mrs. Joe Letell, Brunson of Lake City, S.C., and several nieces and nephews.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home with the Rev. Marion F. Stokes Sr., pastor of the Mount Pisgah A.M.E. Church officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Daniel Holland, 73, of Boss moor Village, died July 26 in Princeton Hospital. He was retired from the Marriott Company.

A native of Port Tampa, Fla., Mr. Holland lived in Washington for 28 years before moving to Rossmore. He was assistant to the vice president in charge of industrial catering at the Marriott Co. at the time of his retirement.

He was a past president of the Washington Rotary Club and a member of Hightstown Rotary, past president of the Washington Society for the Blind and a 32nd degree Mason in New York.

Surviving are his wife, Beulah B. Holland, a son, Daniel B. of Rockville, Md., a daughter, Mrs. Alfred P. Brooks of Country and four grandchildren.

The service will be held at 10:30 a.m. this Thursday at the A.S. Cole Funeral Home, Cranbury. The Rev. Don Maddox of Cranbury Presbyterian Church will officiate. Contributions may be made to the Washington Society for the Blind.

TASK FORCES SHAPING UP
Against Drug Abuse. A six-pronged effort to combat drug usage among Princeton youth is being set up under the leadership of the Princeton Presbyterian Commission.

An open meeting of volunteers will be held at 11 a.m. this Sunday in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church to organize six task forces:

- Legislative and judicial reform — the task force would explore the existing laws and judicial process, seeking to make proposals for change where needed. The group may look into the need for faster action in cases of child neglect or non-support.

- Halfway House — to explore the feasibility, need, expense and concept of a "half way" house where troubled youth could live for a period of time. It would also study the problem of who would run it.

- Emergency needs — a task force of people who would organize resources for emergency clothing, food, medical care, etc. for problem youth.

- Visitation — a group to join with the Presbyterian church in visiting youth held in state institutions for drug (or drug-related) offenses.

- Institutional liaison — to assist the Youth Concerns Committee in coordinating activities of the other social and religious agencies in Princeton to provide a unified effort in the drug problem.

- Hot Line — this task force would explore the feasibility and procedure needed to provide 24-hour counseling services and emergency medical aid to youths who could call anonymously for advice or help.

The task force proposal was passed at the July 19 meeting of the Presbyterian Commission, composed of representatives of the Presbyterian churches in Princeton. The Rev. Harold A. Thomas is chairman.

According to the Rev. William Knight, who conducts a street ministry for the Commission, "This is only a beginning, and more task forces might be created while others are eliminated. But perhaps through such a vehicle, the talents and thinking of a larger number of Princetonians might be developed."

Sunday's meeting, which follows the 10 a.m. service, is open to all interested individuals.

BULLETIN NOTES

Summer services at Trinity Episcopal Church, Rocky Hill, are scheduled for 10 a.m. Holy Communion occurs on the first and third Sundays, Morning Prayer on the other Sundays. The services return to the 11 a.m. schedule on September 6, with the service of Holy Communion.

Chaplain C. George Fitzgerald of Princeton Hospital will conduct the 10 a.m. union service of the Princeton Presbyterian churches this Sunday in St. Andrew's Church.

During August, the United Methodist Church of Pennington and the First Presbyterian Church of Pennington will hold joint services in the Methodist Church.

SING WITH CYNTHIA

At Grover Park, Cynthia Gooding, Princeton's resident folk singer will be visiting singing this Thursday at the Family Folk Singing to be held from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at Grover Park.

Now associated with the National Humanity Studies of the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Foundation, Mrs. Gooding has been a professional folk-singer for 20 years. She starred in the first Newport Folk Festival in 1959, and has made many recordings, between appearances on television and radio and before live audiences.

SUPPORT URGED

For Senior Citizen Credit. The Mercer County assemblymen have urged their efforts to secure an additional $80 property tax credit to senior citizens. Suburban Mercer Assemblyman William Schluter, and Karl Weidel have called on all residents of Mercer County to support the referendum on this year's ballot.

The two Assemblymen are seeking additional property tax relief for our senior citizens in long over due. In the five years following 1964 when the $50 deduction was instituted, total property taxes in New Jersey have increased over 40%. During the same period, the amount of senior citizens' exemptions have gone up only 7%. Clearly, the problem of national inflation has wiped out the original benefits of this exemption.

Recently the enabling bill for the referendum was passed unanimously by both houses of the state legislature. Encouraged by its passage, Assemblyman Weidel was hopeful that New Jersey's entire tax structure would be reformed by the Governor's special tax commission. "In New Jersey," Mr. Weidel stated, "there is too much dependence on the property tax as a source of revenue. This factor hits hardest at our older residents who generally subsist on fixed incomes."

Assemblyman Schluter was a member of the Senior Citizens' Tax Study Commission which recommended this referendum. He explained the proposed measures: "Our Commission recognized that the additional senior citizen tax exemption should not be a burden on the remaining property taxpayers. Regarding this referendum, calls for the State to reimburse municipalities for the taxes which they will lose by this bill." The referendum will be presented to the voters of New Jersey for approval on November 3.

MADISON LETTERS GIVEN

To Princeton University. A collection of autograph and printed materials relating to James Madison, fourth President of the United States and Princeton graduate in 1771 and to his wife, Dolley, has been bequeathed to Princeton University by the late Jasper E. Crane, a member of the University's class of 1901.

More than 300 letters to and from the Madisons, documents, ships' papers, 1 and grants, etchings, circulars, signed checks, and books are included in the gift, together with several hundred copies of historic newspapers, according to University Librarian William S. Dix.

Mr. Crane, who died last December at age 88, was a retired Director and Vice-President of the E.I. duPont de Nemours Co. A resident of Wilmington, Del., he had been a member of the Society of Colonial Wars and throughout his life was deeply interested in American history. The material, dating from 1783, will complement it e m's already housed in the Library's James Madison Collection. Considered a chief architect of the U.S. Constitution, Madison served the nation not only as President (1809-17), but as a member of the Continental Congress (1780-83, 1787-88), as a Virginia legislator (1784-86), as a Congressman (1787-97), and as Secretary of State during the two terms of Thomas Jefferson.

He was one of two Princeton alumni who have been President of the United States (the other, Woodrow Wilson, Princeton 1879) and in 1826 was the founding president of the Princeton Alumni Association, the country's second oldest alumni association.

IF TODAY IS THE FIRST DAY OF THE REST OF YOUR LIFE

Why not begin with a once-in-a-lifetime buy. If you know the Princeton real estate market, then you'll agree that nothing else in the $80,000's can compare with this architect-designed, custom built colonial on its two wooded acres in Princeton's Western Section. Large center hall, step-down living room with fireplace, paneled study with fireplace and adjoining lavatory, dining room, sunny family room opening to screened porch, terrific kitchen, mud room, children's lavatory, hobby room, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, master dressing room and laundry on second floor. Attic and basement. Two car garage. Couldn't possibly be reproduced for the price; if we needed a house we'd snap it up ourselves at $89,500

YOUNG AND EAGER, for a house of your own? We know it's difficult for the first-house hunter to find what he can afford right in Princeton, so we think this 3 bedroom, 1 1/2 bath house near Lawrenceville might be your answer. Living room, study and family room. Modern kitchen, screened porch. Garage. $31,900

JUST A CHIP SHOT: from the emerald fairways of the Redens Brook Club stands one of the best newer houses we've ever seen with 5 bedrooms, 4 1/2 baths and all the living space you could possibly use including: Living room, study, family room and playroom all with fireplaces! Formal dining room, country kitchen, glass walled sun room. Beautiful, wooded grounds. Many expensive extras. Stunning authentic Colonial design. Over $100,000.

A WESTERN SECTION GARDEN APARTMENT? Wouldn't that be wonderful? Unfortunately, there aren't any, but we do have a charming and most unusual one story house, which with its lovely and secluded garden amounts to nearly the same thing. Big, living-dining room with walls of glass overlooking terrace and shaded grounds. Gourmet kitchen. Two bedrooms and bath, plus study-guest room and bath in separate wing. $78,000

A LITTLE PIAZZA? is what sets this one story house apart from others in its price range. Long, low lines, high ceilings, lots of glass, interesting design, and unexpected skylight — these are what it all about. Foyer, living room with fireplace, dining room, family room opening to shaded terrace, modern kitchen, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. Lovely, protected grounds just 2 minutes from Nassau Street. $44,500

Question Of The Week

Question: The state lottery commission has proposed a weekly lottery consisting of one million 25c tickets, a top prize of $25,000 plus 999 other cash winners. Will you buy tickets when the lottery begins later this year?

Where asked: Around town.

Bill Pitman, Lawrenceville steamfitter apprentice: Chances are I will, but I'm only going to buy winners. How many will I buy? I'll probably buy about four a week.

Frank Houghton, South Brittain, Conn., steamfitter: Certainly I'll buy them. I'll buy some right now if you have any. I'll probably buy about eight a week—a couple of bucks worth. I buy at least four New York state lottery tickets a month, but I haven't hit any thing yet. All it takes is once.

Rufus Bailey, Trenton employee, Nini Plymouths, Route 206: Yes, I'd buy them definitely. It's the only chance I have of becoming a millionaire. I'd buy no more than a couple a week, I guess you only need a one to win.

James Bailey, Trenton, mechanic at Nini Plymouths: Yes, I'd take a chance. I'd buy about four a week. It's not a bad investment.

Richard Janulewicz, Trenton employee, Nelson Glass Company, Spring Street: No, I'd leave it in lottery. They're too many tickets out. That's a million to one chance. I'd prefer $50,000 to one and pay a buck.

David Crockford, Cranbury graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary: Yes, I'd buy one—but not weekly. Only when I had $5c to throw away.

Mrs. David Crockford, Cranbury: No, I don't think it would interest me at all. I'm not a gambler at heart, especially in New Jersey.

Houston Weber, 185 Birch Avenue: I throw away a quarter every day so chances are I probably would. I don't smoke and things like that so for me it would mean spending less money a day than people do smoking. Heck, a pack of cigarettes cost about 30 cents that's two a week right there.

Charles Bianco, Princeton Avenue, Rocky Hill, mason: Sure I'll buy some. . . help out the state. Everybody wants to gamble at one time or another, to win something for nothing. Maybe this will reduce taxes and help the schools out. I'll buy at least a dollar's worth a week.

Miss Robin Schoenfeld, Kendall Park, employee NCS: Yes.

Lottery Not A Cure All

In giving tentative approval to the 25-cent ticket system proposed by the state lottery commission last week, Governor William T. Cahill warned that a lottery is not a cure all for the state's financial problems. "It will only be one additional means of raising much needed revenue," he said.

When and if the lottery begins, New Jersey will be the third state in the nation with its own lottery, following New Hampshire, the first, and New York. Both existing lotteries have been financial disappointments. New Hampshire nets about $1 million annually and New York some $26 million a year, four to ten times less what each had expected to collect. In New Jersey, officials are predicting a yearly income of $12 to $15 million.

I would buy some, probably at least one or two dollars worth.

David Hill, Lawrence Township, postal employee: Yes, I'd buy some, about four a week. A dollar isn't that much. I'd only waste it on some other things.

Barbara Jones, Levittown P.A., sales clerk, The Forum Center: No, I would not. I don't believe in lotteries. Too many people get excited, especially in it is like the New York lottery. It's just like a big government game.

Mary Lynn Stollenwerk, Park Place, sales clerk, Fabric Center: No. It's not that I'm afraid to spend a quarter, it's the principle of the thing that it is very easy to throw your money away on gambling. And this is all it really is: gambling.

Pinter: "icy, evil, brilliant"

News Of The THEATRES

Well This is very fine, also lately fine. The Homecoming at Theatre Income. It is an icy, evil and brilliant domestic sexual comedy, or is it a tragedy, or is it a dark, obsessive fantasy, a disease of the imagination with all the unique horror of a dream.

It is nothing easily described, and by this I mean that it is not easily played or staged. Emotional places and minutes change every minute, and we are charged with dealing somehow into the game. It is a charge not to be denied. The players act Harold Pinter's work again on August 6, 7, and 8, take the challenge.

There is nothing brutal in this play, it is all unconventionally evil and entertaining in a daring way: we laugh to deny the reveals and victims engendered by its bloody logic.

Thinking closely of the phrase "flesh and blood," one sees familial relationship anew. The family becomes a unit of destructive, reversed love; breeding does not cause affectionate connection, it means only that there is a logic of blood by which one can select his victims. It is the same logic that makes "Long Day's Journey Into Night" and "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" so unbearable.

The brutality and cruelty of the verbal tricks of blood and love prove to us that those whom we are most desperate to hold within our lives are often hidden and hateful, and shifting away from us only to move back to us again, hearing the truths we loathe because they are ours.

Parentage is the avatar of this universe. Sexuality is its scal. Teddy, Ph.D. in philosophy, returns to England with his wife Ruth. Ruth, who bears to Teddy's family. Teddy returns to America, no Ruth, acquiescent, a pimp to his wife's whoring.

That is the action of the play.

but there is within that simplicity a festering and scabbing that allows no touch except to scratch and re-sound what has been opened. It is in the pooling blood and supposition of these norms that everyone save Ruth, who ascends to her whoredom — drowns.

The company has a new dimension in its tightly controlled and intelligent acting, even in its currently distinguished registry. There is a new excellence here, a level made remarkable by the high sensitivities of its previous productions. The self-involvement of these characters, each of whom is a master in the tactics of mutilation, constitute several unique geniuses for the truly wretched.

Their individuality however makes clear their relationship: they have created each other in the family pact. There are levels of evil there are the attacked, there are victims in every action.

The father, Max, is created by William Hookins. He is able to flood us with a sweating tension of awful anger: truly dominant, almost regal in his control, he demands the respect we must accord the authentic sickness of hate.

Alice White, who is Ruth, introduces by her mere visibility an immediate sexual tension; it is never resolved. She is the only woman in every sense. Her triumph is a victory of feminine magnetism, like Eve's, a fascination simply undeniable.

Daniel Berkowitz creates Lenny, Max's middle son, a hostile, sedate black humorist with an executioner's will, he is perhaps a key to this destructive machine.

Blessed with a soft, vulnerable voice and manner, Mark Capri is Teddy. He gives Ruth to his family with such acquiescent style that we know it is more an ordained gift than a sacrifice; he is choiceless.

The youngest brother, Joey, a would-be boxer, is given by Andrew Bloch a presence that solidifies every amorality here; his acting is clear and clean.

John Vennema is, in his portrayal of Max's brother Sam, Continued On Next Page

STAFF ANNOUNCED
By University-NOW Nursery
Staff appointments for the 1970-71 school year have been announced by the University N.O.W. Day Nursery. Located at 171 Broadmead, the nur-ery offers a full and a half day program with a "learning center" approach.

We have paired our teachers so that each group of children will have both a nursery school specialist and a subject area specialist in art, music, language development and dramatics, explained Fran Slonaker, acting director. "We feel that these teacher teams will offer an enriched nursery experience for the children and be compatible with the individualized approach we envisage for the nursery."

Teachers for the 3's and 4's include Margaret Latch Copeland and Victory Chase. Sandra Cartelou and Barbara Cottrell, Margaret Copeland received her B.S. degree in early childhood education from Wheelock College in 1957. She has taught in the Grant School, Urban Demonstration Center
in Trenton. Victory Chase received her B.A. degree from Stanford in 1963 and her M.A. from Berkeley in 1966. She has experience as a teacher and coordinator of Head Start programs.

Sandra Cartelou received her B.A. from Sarah Lawrence in 1969, where she taught in an experimental pre-kindergarten program. She has also taught kindergarten in the Franklin Township schools.
Barbara Cottrell attended Rutgers University and holds a B. Fine Arts from the Philadelphia College of Art. She has taught experimental art classes in Philadelphia and Cherry Hill, and worked with John Catullo in Loeb Lab.

Teachers for the 2's and 3's include Bette Soloway, Russind Patrick, Sheila Lucas and Katen Sawyer. Bette Soloway holds a B.A. degree from the College of Wooster (1967) and has been director and teacher in the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church Nursery School.

choirboys on scholarship from outstanding church and school choirs in the East and Mid-West, including four boys from the Choir of Men and Boys of Trinity Church in Princeton. The men of the choir are professional teacher and student singers. Three men from the men's section of Trinity's choir are singing with the Berkshire group.

The choir is in residence in Lenox, Mass. during the summer months, and presents concerts throughout the East, including concerts at Tanglewood. The conductor of the choir is George Guest, the conductor of the St. John's College of Cambridge, England, and James Litton, organist and choirmaster of Trinity in Princeton, is the assistant conductor. David Agler, the organist choirmaster of All Saints' Chapel in Princeton, is the organist for the group.

The choir has been called the best of its kind in the United States. "The New York Times," and its first professional recording has just been released on RCA Victor.

Works by Victoria, Elgar, Bruckner, Vaughan Williams and Darius Milhaud will be sung in the Trinity, Princeton concert. Sunday's concert will be the choir's only full length program in New Jersey during the current season.

ENTER SHAW
"Misalliance" Bernard Shaw's brilliant presentation of, among other things, the generation gap, will round out the summer repertory season for Summer Intime in Murray Theatre.

"Misalliance" will open this Thursday and will play again Friday and Saturday and August 13, 14 and 15. All at 8:30 in the air-conditioned theatre.

Besides the parent-child relationship, Shaw moves in on anarchy and unjust government and women's lib. The comedy takes place over the weekend at the country estate of John Tarleton, head of Tarleton's Underwear. His daughter Hypatia is anxious for something to happen and it does: a lady aviator crashes into the greenhouse. Researchers have suggested the possibility that this is the play in which a character says "Tennis anyone?"

John Vennema will be Tarleton. He is "Sam" in Intime's "Homecoming." Hypatia is Deborah Savage who appeared as "Anne" in "Anne of the Thousand Days" and was Alma in this summer's "Eccentricities."

Other members of the cast are William Hookins as Lord Summerhays; Daniel Berko witz as his son Bently and Alice White as Mrs. Tarleton. The Polish aviatrix will be Gisha Pagano. Geoff Peterson is directing.

"LOVELY WAR"
From Intime, "Oh, What a Lovely War!" a revue based on World War I and presented in the manner of a traveling English music hall show, will be given this Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in Murray Theatre.

The production is by the Theatre Arts Guild of Freehold, a non-profit Little-Theatre group which produces local plays and musicals each year and performs annually in Washington Crossing State Park.

On the film side, Summer Intime moves ahead next Monday at 8 with the Marx Brothers in "Duck Soup." Margaret Dumont is in the cast, too, along with Groucho, Harpo and Chico.

Tuesday at 8 p.m. the film is "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?" with Bette Davis and Joan Crawford. Both films will be shown in the McCormick Art Museum on campus. It's air conditioned.

AUDITIONS TO BE HELD
For Rock Musical. Auditions for the Stage Two production of "Your Own Thing," a rock musical, will be held from 3:30 to 6 p.m. Thursday at the Washington Crossing Open Air Theatre. Directed by Herb Shapiro, the play will be presented there in late August.

The primary needs are for a 4 or 5 piece rock group, three actors who can dance and sing, and an actor and actress to play the twins, Sebastian and Viola. The production will feature elements of the rock concert, light show, Shakespeare and farce and audience participation.

GARDEN and BRUNSWICK
Z (now playing) is a French made melodrama about a political assassination that took place in Greece in 1963. It has an astonishing number of parallels to events in present day U.S.A. It also sends the senses to tingling after the fashion of the best movie thrillers.

The one now playing is in English, having replaced the one in French with subtitles.

A professor of medicine at the University of Athens, Gregorios Lambriakis, is 'Struck down by a truck as he leaves the hall where he has made a speech, his death is officially called "an accident" by the anxious government.

In a fascinating documentary style, "Z" reveals the means by which the truth is uncovered, largely through the efforts of a journalist photographer and a dedicated magistrate. The trail is followed with all the excitement of an top notch whodunit.

Yves Montand appears as The Deputy, Irene Papas as the leader, with Jean-Louis Trintignant, Charles Denner, Renato Salvatori and others, all top actors in the cast. Costa Gavras is director and co-writer of the film script with Jorge Semprun. Nikos Theodorakis supplies a musical score that throbs with tension.

Prince, Playhouse, Lincoln
"M*A*S*H" (now playing). If the Marx Brothers were still around, dressed in white scruff uniforms, and set near the front in Korea during the war, they would have probably turned out something like "M*A*S*H." Donald Sutherland, Elliott Gould and Tom Skerrit all make fine counterparts of the Marxes.

This is the anti-establishment movie taken to the outer extremes of black comedy, with nothing sacred not surgery, chastity, womanhood, religion, Army discipline, the sanctity of marriage, war movies, or even football. Nor Eisenhower, MacArthur and Leonardo da Vinci exempted. All these and more take a satirical burlesque that will warm the hearts of misanthropes.

The uninhibited heroes of "M*A*S*H" (which means M*A*S*H: Army Medical Service Hospital) are a trio of army surgeons who make their own rules. Their misadventures with friends and enemies, both male and female, take place mostly in Korea with a trip to Tokyo for an urgent operation on a senator's son and a quick game of golf.

Ring Lardner Jr. wrote the script from the novel by Richard Hooker. The intermingling of the deadly serious with the outrageously comic is so well handled that the congruity becomes funny and not repellent.

The doctors, for instance, cure a dentist of suicidal tendencies developed by sexual impotency. They seemingly go along with his desire to die—but drug him instead and slip a pretty nurse into his funeral bier for when he awakens. This episode includes an arrangement of the characters in parody of "The Last Supper."

With her are Walter Thompson (left) salesman for Kerns, and Meyer Schullz, manager of Thriftway in the Montgomery Shopping Center, where Mrs. Oliver entered the contest.

Topics Of The Town

Mrs. Saloway will serve as assistant director and teacher

Rosalind Patrick has a British Certificate in early child education, and has had experience in the British infant school approach. During the past year she has been an assistant teacher at Crossroads Nursery School (Institute for Advanced Study).

Shelly Lucas also holds a British Early Childhood certificate, and has taught in the Children's Society Nursery in Surrey, England. Karen Sawyer attended the University of Colorado (Denver) and has been teaching at Crossroads Nursery school for the past year.

Ted Zilius, artist and toy designer at Creative Playthings, will act as part time art teacher and consultant at the nursery school. Mr. Zilius has attended Brooklyn College, Pratt Institute, and the School of Visual Arts. He has worked for Robert P. Gerson Associates and Charles Eames. He has been painting since 1936, and showed at the 4th Annual Show of the Trenton State Museum in 1969.

Parents interested in the University N.O.W. Day very may call Mary J. Milroy, registrar, at 921-3232.

LEGION CARNAVAL SET

For Next Two Weeks: The Hopewell Valley Amelican Legion Post 339 is planning its 11th Annual Carnival to be held from 7 o'clock till midnight, this Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at the Post Home on Van Dyke Road, Hopewell Township. The carnival will also be on next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 6-8, at the same time.

Free parking for 2,000 cars will be provided as well as kiddie rides, refreshments, a fireworks, and free dancing every evening to live music. Both Friday evenings, the "Sons of the Whiskers" (Robert Johnson) will present "Disco and Jazz."

On Saturday evenings, the Hopewell Concert Band will put on an old-fashioned band concert under the direction of George Salto. Also on Saturday, August 8, the Annual Raffle drawing for 12 prizes will take place at 11:30 p.m.

PROGRAM ENLARGED

By Woodrow Wilson Foundation. Responding to the critical shortage of professional administrators at black and other "developing" colleges, the Woodrow Wilson Administrative Internship Program will double its number of participants in 1970-71.

Director of the program, Wyndham Anderson, announced this week that grants from six foundations and corporations will make it possible to send 15 men who have received degrees from leading graduate schools of business and public administration to work at 13 small colleges, three of them predominantly white.

The Woodrow Wilson Nation al Fellowship Foundation initiated the Administrative Internship Program in 1967 with a grant from the Esso Education Foundation. This year additional grants have come from the Joseph Smith Noyes Foundation, Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation, Burlington Industries Foundation, International Business Machines Corporation, International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation and Prudential Insurance Company.

Applicants to the Administrative Internship Program are interviewed by two national committees, composed of college presidents, graduate deans and corporation executives. The candidates selected are recommended to the participating colleges for the available positions. The Woodrow Wilson Foundation subsidizes a part of each Administrative Intern's salary.

The 1970-71 Administrative Interns have earned their graduate degrees at Dartmouth, Columbia, Harvard, Notre Dame, Wharton School (University of Pennsylvania) and Stanford. They will become assistants to college presidents, fund raisers, planners, and assistants to business managers. Many of them are postponing business careers because they feel challenged by the variety and complexity of the jobs awaiting them at the "developing" colleges.

 three of the losers' seven hits.
 He batted 3 for 3. Tom Fernu-son took the loss.

The Elks' evened their record to 4-4 with a pair of split decisions - 17-4 over Engine No. 9 and 15-4 over Hook & Ladder.
 Against H&L, homers by Tony Lewis and Tom Herquist winning pitcher Howie Brooks gave up only four hits, striking out 11.

TEAGUE & HINDS SLUGGERS. Two good reasons why Teague & Hinds is in first place in the Princeton Adult Softball League are Dan Alleyne and Cap Crossland, shortstop and outfielder for the league leaders. In one game Alleyne hit a triple and two doubles to lead his team to a victory over the Outlaws. Crossland was hitting over .600 early in the season. (Staff Photo)

TWO MORE FOR TEAGUE'S
 Two losses For Outlaws.
 The two team race in the Princeton Adult Softball League became even more solidified last week, as Teague & Hinds won two more and runner-up Conte's Bar won its only start.

They have left the other five teams far behind, including the Outlaws which lost two last week to fall into next to last place.

A hit by Steve McLain, one of three he had in the game, started a four-run fifth inning which carried Teague's past Varsity Sport Shop, 8-4. Bucky Melvin led Varsity with two hits.

Earlier, a 5-for-5 performance at the plate by Bob Besley powered Teague to a 10-2 victory over Nassau. Conover Motors. With the wind against him, Besley hit one of the longest balls of the season when he drilled one 400 feet into left field. Mike Desmond and Vinnie Boccia scored Conover's both runs.

Conte's overcame leads of 2-0 and 4-0 by the Ivy Inn to win, 7-4. Home runs by Frank Jackson, Scott Anderson and Jack Roberts in the fifth and sixth innings were the decisive hits for Conte's. Tony Pirone and Buddy Britton had two hits apiece for Ivy.

Ivy then gained a split for the week when owner manager Dick McCuskey did it all in a game with Varsity Sport Shop. Dick batted 4-for-4, scored three runs and was credited with the win. First-inning homers by Buddy Britton and Jim Case got the victors off winging. John Pesce led all Varsity batters with three hits.

Harrison Athletic Club combined two walks, an error and a hit for four runs in the first,
 which was all it needed to win its second game of the season - a 4-2 triumph over the Outlaws. Craig Donaldson limited the losers to four hits.

The Outlaws were the victim again when Nassau-Conover pounded out 21 hits to fashion a 12-9 victory. The entire line up batted safely at least once with winning pitcher Tom Murphy collecting three hits.

Gruver Bating. 722 Through 12 games there were 12 batters hitting .500 or more, as compiled by league statistician
 Al Toto Jr. Heading the list was the Outlaws' Gerald Grocer who had 26 hits in 36 appearances for a torrid .722 average. Buck Melvin of Varsity Sport Shop, 24 hits in 39 appearances, was second with
 .615.

Others and their averages are: Wes Cawley (.500) of Conte's; Rick Hagadorn (.367)
 Outlaws; Frank Cawley (.556)
 Conte's; Jim Pirone (.550)
 Varsity; Rich Vole (.538) Outlaws; Steve McLain (.533)
 Teague; Jim Quinn (.531)
 Conte's; Sam Proccacini (.511)
 Varsity; Bruce Sandvik (.500)
 Nassau; and Conover; and Bob
 Good (.500) H&C.

The Standings:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Teague & Hinds	11	3	.786
Conte's Bar	10	3	.714
Ivy Inn	7	7	.500
Varsity Sport	7	7	.500

FINALS THIS WEEK

For Junior Tennis. The younger division of the New Jersey District Junior Championships, now in progress on the Community Park courts, has attracted another record
 draw according to Co-Chairmen, Mrs. Leon Lapidus and Mrs. Jay Webster.

Almost 200 youngsters have entered, including a returning finalist from last year's event, Richie Gooder of Florida and many other top ranked young players from Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, New York, and New England.

Singles finals in most divisions will be held on Thursday at 10 a.m. with doubles following at 2 p.m. Since the Boys' 14 draw attracted 78 entries, this division will take longer to complete and may not schedule finals until Friday.

Spectators are welcome to attend. For the exact schedule of the final matches, it is advisable to check with the tournament headquarters at Community Park courts.

ENGINE NO. 3 TWO UP
 In Junior Baseball Division.
 Engine No. 3 struck out 12 to lead its schedule in the junior division of the Princeton Youth Baseball Association finds Engine
 No. 3 two games in the lead with a 8-0 record.

Last week, Bob McHugh of
 No. 3 struck out 12 to lead his team to a 10-2 decision over Eagles. Mike Barren had a two run homer and Dave Shi-

The difference between a dead-end cellar and a basement-for-living

Without direct access to the out-of-doors, your basement becomes a seldom used, dead end area, instead of a "live", low-cost space for the enjoyment of your whole family.

A BILCO Basement Door costs so little when it's included in the foundation construction. With it, you will as much as double the living space of your new home! Let us show you how easily and inexpensively you can include a BILCO Door and Stair Stringers in your building plans.

to make an easy winner of Andy Noel in the contest with No. 1 Howe Brooks homered and rapped three other hits in four appearances to pace the 12 hit attack. Jim LaPlaca and Nor-gun Morhamma tripled for the losers.

In the week's closest contest, Eagles shaded winless Roma Eterna, 7-6. John Silverman hit in relief of Dana Nini, losing pitcher Dave Young lanned 11 and gave up five hits. Nini went 3 for 4 and Jim Len-non, 2 for 1, for Eagles, while Tom Hagadora and Dave Fitzpatrick had the lone two hits. Eterna collected off Eagle pitching.

Although outlit, 6-4, Italian American Sportsmen Club pushed Roma further in the cellar with a 8-2 victory. Winning pitcher John Perone struck out 11; his counterpart, John Beccafunso wiffed 12, Perone, 2 for 3, and Pat King, homer, were the big guns for Sportsmen. Beccafunso batted 3 for 4 for the losers.

Post 76 split its two games. It defeated IASC, 12-2, getting all the runs it needed on a grand slam by Jeff Bartolino. Post 76, however, Scott Thomas, Chris Leuper and Bill Crane also took part in the nine hit assault against losing pitcher Pat King. IASC also collected nine hits off Post 76 hurler Steve O'Neil.

Post 76 then dropped a 11-8 decision to Engine No. 1. Bob Willis, Tom Moore and Bah Mangone combined for eight hits of No. 1's eight hits, including a double by Moore. Jim LaPlaca was the winner. Paul Soderman the loser. Soderman had two of the losers' six hits.

CLASSES TO CONTINUE

In Community Tennis. There have been so many requests for an expanded August session of tennis instructional classes, the Princeton Community Tennis Program is planning a revised schedule for the next three week period. Instead of concluding this Friday as originally planned, Gold Cup boys and girls classes will continue as well as John Canoy's advanced and intermediate classes for ladies. Canoy will not personally be able to teach these classes but other members of his staff will be in charge.

All of the regular classes for beginners and intermediates now held at Community Park and the High School will continue as well as Mr. Dielenbach's Silver Cup Program. This next session starts this Monday, and will continue through Friday, August 22nd. The Davis Cup Matches concluded this past Thursday but there will still be informal match play every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon from 1:30 to 3:00 during the August session. Mr. Dielenbach is planning to set up a challenge

WATTERSON IS WINNER

At Pike Brook Club, Mrs. James Watterson of Somerset won the Spring Handicap Tournament last week at the Pike Brook Country Club by defeating Mrs. William Kelly of Belle Mead.

To reach the finals, Mrs. Kelly defeated Mrs. William Maris in the quarterfinals; Mrs. Watterson stopped Mrs. William Grandner of Belle Mead.

The Nine Hole Association at Pike Brook last week entered the women of Hopewell Valley Country Club.

Prizes for low net were presented to Doris Connor of Hopewell (41) and to Marge Daniel of Pike Brook (35). Those with the fewest putts were Estelle Greig of Hopewell with 18 and Kay Taylor of Pike Brook with 13.

Earlier, the Association held a Twilight at Dawn Tournament.

Low net winners were Mrs. Walter Fuchs, first, by defeating match of cards; Mrs. Timothy Ellard, second, and Mrs. Claude Palmer, third. Mrs. Herbert Gewirtz had the fewest putts.

SWIMMING COACH NAMED

Farley Replaces Clotworthy

The appointment of William

PIKE BROOK FINALISTS: Mrs. James Watterson of Somerset (right) defeated Mrs. William Kelly of Belle Mead in the final match of the Spring Handicap Tournament at Pike Brook Country Club.

W. Farley as head coach of swimming at Princeton University has been announced by R. Kenneth Fairman, Director of Athletics.

The 25-year-old former Olympic medalist succeeds Robert L. Clotworthy who resigned recently after 12 years as Tiger head coach to enter private coaching. Farley was named to coach the Princeton freshman swimming team in April, 1968, and during the past two seasons has led his charges to a record of nine victories against three defeats each season.

A native of California, he entered the University of Michigan in 1962 and became one of the Big Ten's top swimmers. For three consecutive years, he won the conference title in the 500-yard freestyle and also captured Big Ten titles once each in the 200-yard and 1500-yard freestyle events.

He was also a member of the Wolverine 800-yard freestyle relay quartet which established an American record for the event. A member of the 1963 Pan American Team and also of the National Swimming Team which traveled to Japan in the same year, Farley was a medal winner at 1500 meters for the U. S. Olympic Team in 1964 at Tokyo.

Following his 1966 graduation from the University of Michigan, Farley coached the Wolverine freshman team which captured the first Big Ten Freshman Swimming Championship. At the same time, he served as head coach of the Ann Arbor Swim Club. While studying toward his Master's degree in Physical Education which he received in 1968 from Eastern Michigan University, Farley was assistant swimming coach there.

He is married to the former Karen Luedtke of Grand Rapids, Michigan.

NO TEAM HAS EDGE

In PYBA Senior Division, Only one game separates the first from the last team in the four team senior division of the Princeton Youth Baseball Association where four teams have to be rescheduled because of protests or rainouts.

Thorne Pharmacy earned its record by virtue of its 5-0 victory over Princeton Patrolmen's Benevolent Association. Winning pitcher Bob Speagle fanned eight and hit a two-run triple in the first inning to aid his cause. Greg Kline had a double and triple and Pete Newirth and Mike Schuller each collected two hits as every player on the Thorne lineup got at least one hit.

Tom Stange of Princeton Bank and Trust held Kai Soler's New York Life hitless in the first inning but wilted when the Bank scored two runs in the eighth to break a 3-3 tie. Bob King of PBT struck out 16. Stange took the loss.

was clocked in 27 min. 7 sec. a surprising performance for one so young.

Allen Bell won the Senior Championship of New Jersey, and his son Gary won the Junior Championship, a fine double for the Century RC. Century RC members have also collected the State Championships of Connecticut (Doug Dale), Pennsylvania (Dave Chaumer), and Maryland (Bob Phillips), thus making a fine weekend of wins for the Princeton club, which was established in 1891.

LUCAR, LIONS TIE

For Babe Ruth Title, Lucar Hardware and the Lions Club were declared co-champions at the West Windsor Babe Ruth Baseball League last week when their playoff games were still tied, 6-6, and the contest was called because of darkness.

The two were then declared co-champions when they were unable to agree on another date because of other commitments of the players and managers. Gary Fowler pitched for Lucar, while Denny Clark was on the mound for Lions.

Earlier in a tightly fought contest, Greg Kline of Thorne's tossed a one-hitter to top Princeton Bank & Trust, 2-1. Lusing pitcher John Videbeck gave up four hits.

Kline's single scored Bob Turgeon who had doubled for the first Thorne run; the second came home the same way. Dave Olney singled home Mike Schuller who had doubled.

A protest by N.Y. Life in a game with PBT was upheld by league commissioner Jack Petrone. It will be replayed at a later date.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
PBT	4	3	.571
Thorne Phar.	4	4	.500
N.Y. Life	3	3	.500
PBA	3	4	.429

THREE TIED FOR LEAD

In Girls Softball League. With two games to play each, three teams are tied for the lead in the Princeton Area Industrial Softball League with 5-0 records.

After rolling to a 5-0 mark, the Young's sponsored by the Koffee Kup Restaurant have been caught by Educational Testing Service and McGraw Hill, ETS is the defending league champions. In the event of a three-way tie, a league meeting will determine the schedule of elimination; if two teams tie, there will be a single playoff game.

Other teams in the league are RCA (4-1) Cities Service (2-6) and American Express (0-8).

CYCLISTS COMPLETE

On Hightstown Course, Princeton's young racing cyclists of the Century RC had a good day's ride on the Hightstown course last Sunday, in the last 10-mile event of the summer. Seventeen-year-old George Camacho clocked 23 min. 28 sec. to beat his brother Mariano by one second.

These two were well ahead of the rest of the field, but the best ride of the day was by 12-year-old Vincent Menci, who

Sciences at Princeton University, is among the 30 university professors from campuses across the nation spending part of their summer as participants in the nation's space program at NASA's Lewis Research Center, Cleveland, Ohio.

The far ranging Faculty Fellowship Program is sponsored jointly by the Lewis Research Center and Case Western Reserve University under the auspices of NASA and the American Society of Engineering Education.

Wayne M. Lancaster, Old Georgetown Road, Franklin Township, has been named to the spring term Dean's List at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science.

Linus G. Farr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa H. Farr of Harington Road, Belle Mead, will be a freshman at Bates College in Lewiston, Me. this September.

Jonathan E. Durbin, 246 Western Way, received his B.A. degree from the College of Arts and Science of the University of Rochester this June.

Leonard F. Newton, 90 Dempsey Avenue, is currently a member of the Alumni Fund board of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mr. Newton, who is now vice president of Response Analysis Corporation in Princeton, was a graduate of M.I.T. in 1949.

Several Princeton area residents have been awarded advanced degrees by Princeton University. They are: Paul B. Courtwright, 233 Mount Lucas

Road, M.A. in religion; Edwin F. Kremer, West Drive, Ph.D. in psychology; and David C. Parris, 405 B. Devereux Avenue, M.A. in geological and geophysical sciences.

Also Norma Rubin, Dutch Neck Road, Hightstown, M.F.A. in music; Tiao-Ming Wu, 226 B Harrison Street, M.A. in aerospace and mechanical sciences; and Ronald C. White, Jr., 11 Walnut, M.A. in religion.

Three senior members of the Princeton University Faculty, drawn from the broad field of the "Social Arts and Sciences," have been elected to membership in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, one of the country's oldest learned societies which was founded in 1780 by John Adams and other leaders of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

One of the six economists newly elected to the Academy is Dr. Ansley J. Coale, considered among America's foremost population experts. Professor Coale is Director of Princeton's Office of Population Research and is also the William Church Osborn Professor of Public Affairs and Professor of Economics.

Dr. Bernard A. Kaplan, 19 Colonial Lake Drive, Lawrence Township, director of the State Department of Education's Office of Planning in the Division of Research, Planning and Evaluation, is the co-editor and author in part of a new book titled America's Problem Youth.

The book is a basic text on education and guidance for the disadvantaged student. It is based on two series of workshops directed by Dr. Kaplan for four summers, 1964-67 at Cornell University.

A native of Hancock, N.Y., Dr. Kaplan came to the education department in 1966 from the New York State Education Department where he had served 12 years as a guidance supervisor. During 1962-63 he was on a one year leave of absence to serve as assistant director for the National Education Association Project on School Dropouts.
